

STEVE MACKAY and THE RADON ENSEMBLE "HIDDEN AWAY"

Live in Johnson City, TN - 2008
At Heather's Hideaway

"Hidden Away" dvd reissue

presented by
THE RADON COLLECTIVE ARCHIVE

Preview:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SNRr9k2PleY>

Full show:
https://archive.org/details/20240414\_20240414\_0640

Originally released by Radon in cooperation with URCK
Full show remastered from the original dvd

After 5 years of chaos reigning in the ranks of the Radon Ensemble, the time had come to begin performing the true, composed work of Steve Mackay. This captures the group at the earliest stages of this formation. The core of the band was assembled in Nashville, Tennessee and consists of prolific local musical pros, Steve Poulton and Deanna Varagona, with a true Nashville boy, John Sharp forming the rhythm section alongside original Radon member Sam Lohman, with the Ensemble's musical director Scott Nydegger, and recurring collaborator/producer Kamilsky, making one of their final appearances in the line up. Adding an extra element to the spectacle, Ed Cooper brought the unique visuals of Projexorcism. The venue itself is quite special. The Radon Collective took a liking to the Twin Peaks gone southern vibe of Johnson City, and the Hideaway became regular stop of Radon tours, and were met with wonderful welcomes from the locals. The Hideaway crowd have a inquisitive ears and open minds, no doubt with some credit for expanding those going to local creative force Bryan Lewis Sanders, who appeared on many of the line ups of the Radon shows.

